IFAW/WTI Animal Action Painting Competition

Every year as part of Animal Action Week a wall poster, calendar or greeting cards are produced from the best entries of theme painting contests.

In 2010, we are calling for colourful paintings and drawings of tiger in its natural habitat and the animals that WTI/IFAW safeguards, including elephants, rhinos, bears, turtles, whale sharks and many more. You can find out more by visiting our websites: www.wti.org.in and www.ifaw.org/discoveranimals.

A selection of the best entries will then be used by the Wildlife Trust of India to produce greeting cards. The winning artists will be given 50 complimentary cards depicting their own paintings. Two national level winners will receive cash award and certificate.

Your picture should not contain any wording. It should be your original and unaided work and not a copy. The picture size can be up to standard A3 size (29.7cms x 42cms) and should be no smaller than a single sheet of standard A4 (29.7cms x 21cms).

To enter, fill in this form and send it to the address below with your entry attached.
